

The Role of NSDI in the Development of China

Dr. WANG Chunfeng, Deputy Director
General, State Bureau of Surveying and
Mapping of China (SBSM)

Abstract

China is in developing remarkably these years, NSDI is required by increasing needs from many aspects of society. So, as an independent component of national information infrastructure of China, NSDI is playing more and more important role in development of China.

This presentation talks about the concept, needs and status of NSDI in China, and introduces actions these years has been taken to promote NSDI construction. Especially, examples of NSDI application are enumerated to indicate the role of NSDI in social and economic life.

Full paper not available